Resource Guide Summary

This resource guide has been created to provide families, who have members that are hard of hearing or Deaf, with information and contact details for various organisations, schools and other facilities that are aimed at serving the Deaf community. Most of the organisations/facilities listed in this guide are either government lead or non-profit operated, therefore, there are many private practices for speech and audiology that have not been listed. The guide has information specific to each province of South Africa (Western Cape, Eastern Cape, Northern Cape, KwaZulu Natal, Free State, Gauteng, North West, Limpopo, Mpumalanga) and information that is applicable to people based anywhere in the country. In this guide you will find useful contact information about:

Schools for the Deaf: In this section you will find the names and contact details for all the schools for the Deaf/hard of hearing in each of the provinces. Most of the schools are government lead and support learners from Grade R to Grade 12. Where this is not the case, a note is made to indicate the age range. Most schools use sign language as one of the means of communication as well as a language such as English which they use for the academic classwork. Some provinces have limited schools for the Deaf and might require families to find a suitable school for their child in a neighbouring province.

Organisations, associations, and support groups: In this section you will find names and contact details for different organisations and associations that focus on hearing loss. The organisations focus on aspects such as teaching sign language, early intervention programs, skills training, Deaf awareness, and much more. You will also find contact details of support groups that have been established to provide support to families that have a member or members who are hard of hearing or Deaf. These groups are a fantastic way for families to interact with each other and to gain access to information and guidance about hearing loss.

Healthcare facilities: In this section you will find the names and contact details of healthcare institutions where you can get medical care for your family member who has hearing loss. The medical care specific to hearing includes: 1) audiology, in which hearing tests are conducted to determine the level of hearing loss for a child as well as providing assistive devices such as hearing aids, 2) speech therapy, in which a therapist aims to help the individual to communicate as well as possible, and develop their speech and language skills, 3) ENT, who will provide care if surgery or more complex care is required. Usually, an appointment will be for you to see an ENT specialist, by another healthcare provider if it is necessary.

Religious facilities: In this section you will find names and contact details about various places of worship. These places offer their services in sign language, so that individuals who cannot hear are able to attend without any limitations. This also offers a platform with families and individuals with hearing loss to interact with others who share their same beliefs.

Sport and recreation: In this section you will find details about sports clubs for people with hearing loss. These sports organisations are ideal for people who are active and want to be part of a sports team, or even those who might enjoy watching a game or two.
